Mr. Obama, open the gate to commerce. Mr. Obama (please) Tear down this wall!

During this time when the nation is looking to fund infrastructure projects that will create jobs, is the time to consider a pilot project on the border.

One mile section of the River Uplift, a personal port of entry, and two areas along this one mile section that will be re-developed.

This way, the River Uplift can prove to either work or simply be a small investment in the area. If it does work, then there are another 20 miles between El Paso and Cd. Juarez waiting to be completed.

And then there is the rest of the borderland.
